HISTORY

In a desperate bid to save himself from a terminal blood condition, Dr. Michael Morbius subjected himself to an experimental treatment using vampire bat DNA. The treatment saved Morbius' life but transformed him into a hideous vampire. Horrified by his insatiable lust for blood, Morbius attempted to throw himself into the sea only to discover that his new form was seemingly unkillable. Forced to live, Morbius embarked on a blood-fueled rampage across New York.

In the years since, Morbius has found temporary cures for his condition, but he lives in constant fear of reverting into a bloodsucking monster.

PERSONALITY

Highly eloquent and intelligent, Morbius still cares for those he left behind in his human life. In his more lucid moments, he does his best to redirect his feeding instincts toward violent criminals, particularly those who would do his loved ones harm.
